WARNING A MANGO TREE.

We have heard a great deal lately about the encouragement of the excellent fruit, growing of Baluchistan. How can Bombay mangoes, or Goa Mangoes, expect to hold their own against such competition as the following which is described in the Baluchistan census report. When a Makran mango tree or date palm fails to give fruit, the owner gets a couple of friends to bear him company and strides up to it in a threatening manner. "What's all this?" he bawls. "No fruit? Do you think you can make a fool of me? I'll soon show you are mightily mistaken." And with that he gives it a stroke with his axe. Thereupon his comrades fling themselves upon him and seize his hands; only let him spare the poor thing this once and it will be on its best behaviour in future, they'll be bound. But he wrenches himself loose, and gives it another blow before they can stop him. In time, of course, they heedle him into a more forgiving frame of mind, and turn to the tree and say, "Harko, brother Mango! We have begged you off this time, or by the Almighty he would have had you down." And now that we have given our word for your good behaviour you had best bear fruit next year and plenty of it; or you will catch it with a vengeance. Says Mr. Bray, the Census Superintendent, "It is marvellous, I am told, what a bit of bluster will do to make a mango tree or dates palm mend its ways." He suggests the analogy of the old saying of the West: "A woman, a spaniel and a walnut tree, the more you beat them the better they be," and regards it as a delightful instance of the universality of the working of the human mind. "Times of India."

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR FAMILY.
WHEN you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

WHO'S WHO IN JAPAN

EDITED AND PUBLISHED BY S. KURIHA.

The first (1913) edition is already issued.
BIOGRAPHIES of over 5,000 people who are well-known in society and of several hundred foreigners associated with Japan appear in the book. Quite new materials and accurate sketches, both being utterly free from prejudice.
Many portraits are inserted. The book contains over 1,400 pages.
The price is yen 6 (24) or $3 per copy.
Orders for the book should be accompanied by payment.
Subscribers for the second annual edition of "Who's Who in Japan" will be allowed a reduction of one yen.
The registered postage is 13 sen to Korea and China 40 sen and to Europe $1.00 matter 70 sen or 35 cents.
It is a Good Advertising Medium.
Many industrial papers of the world noticed this work in the highest terms.
For example, The Daily Mail says:—
"Yet another 'Who's Who' and this time from Japan! The reader is apt to be surprised to find a curiosity, as a sign that the East has now become Western practically almost to the last detail. But 'Who's Who in Japan' is far more than a curiosity; it is a very sound and useful reference book. It is printed in English and contains brief biographies on the accepted model of prominent men in Japan.
Mr. Kuriha is a skilful editor and has done his work well."

THE CHINA SOCIETY.

unite in the wish and hope, and most of them in the belief, that the Chinese would continue their present heroic, difficult reform course. It was true that in the prospect that lay before them they would have many slips, many mistakes, there might be, many catastrophes, but with their great powers of mind and body and their great resources he had no doubt they would in the future take a great place in the councils of the world. So by helping to rid them of this optimism and, to take the stumbling-block out of their way as well as we could, we should be not only doing what was right but that was politic for the future, something that would smooth the way for Sir Edward Grey in generations to come. We should be wise in our own commercial interests to do right, to do something even generous before it was too late to

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the China Society was held prior to the Dinner, with the formal business was duly transacted. The accounts were passed, on the motion of the secretary, Dr. Giles, seconded by Sir Walter Hillier, K.C.M.G. In the election of officers Mr. Byron Brown, C.M.G., was chosen as Chairman of the Council, with Mr. A. M. Townend, vice-chairman. The three new members appointed to the Council are Rev. Curcio Martin, Mr. Geo. Brown, and Capt. N. F. Brooke. The present members were all re-elected. It may be noted that the balance-sheet of the Society for the year ending April 30 last shows an income, including the balance of £1 brought forward, of £380, and the balance carried forward into the current year is £77. The membership of the Society shows a very slight increase, and now numbers about 230. "L. and Express."

SIR ROBERT BRIDSON, OF BRITISH POLICY.

Sir Robert Braddon, in proposing the election of the Chairman, welcomed the old acquaintance. He went on to say that we were at sea as to the immediate future of China. 'As to its ultimate nature he had no doubt under the sun in his own mind. He had spoken to no serious Englishman present who had not his own experience of China who was not on the whole satisfied that whatever opinion he might say of pessimistic prediction, the policy for us to adopt was one simple of "patience towards" the Chinese. The Chinese were looking for the sympathy of the world. They would all do just they trusted and honoured the Englishman, that they trusted: your

PETER PAN.

The Smallburgh, Norfolk, Guardian has received an intimation that a girl aged thirteen, has not grown for some years. The county medical officer has advised that she should have thyroid extract to make her grow, but the district medical officer has refused to supply the glandular extract, as he did not contract for his own cost, as he did not contract to increase the stature of any Poor Law patient.

ally, patience, and assistance, and as what was going to happen he would tell Mr. Augustin and say, "Wait and see." (Cheers.)
 The toast was drunk with three cheers and a tiger.
 In the course of his reply, the Chairman said he enjoyed his time as Commander-in-Chief in the Far East very much, and found it the most interesting of all his commands. "We felt quite sure we were right in helping the Chinese,
 to feel they would rise to the occasion,
 and, with those great qualities they possessed, would make that empire greater than it ever had been before. Let us now consider the relations with China in the future, and let us bring out all the good there is in the Chinese, and ask the Chinese to look for all the best parts of the British character as well as some of its faults, which they might not entirely approve. Recalling further his residence in the East, Admiral Seymour said he liked the Hong-kong, "This was always" a friendly towards him. He knew also Chang Kai-shek, and of course of the old man, and he had always thought that at his heart they were the same, there was a great deal of good sense, good judgment, and good feeling. He came away full of respect for the Chinese, and the more he heard of them, the more they endeavored to improve and to learn our ways.
 He concluded his remarks by saying that the future of this country (Applause.)
 The company then adjourned to the ballroom, where a further pleasant time was spent in social intercourse before the evening broke up.

The World's Cup of Health

In every country and in every clime, the supremacy of Sanatogen among tonic foods and reconstituent remedies is now abundantly recognised and warmly praised.

It exercises the most powerful influence over all disorders of the stomach and nervous system which manifest themselves in such depressing symptoms as Insomnia, Uncontrollable Lassitude, Disinclination for Mental and Physical Activity, Loss of Memory, so-called "Nervous Dyspepsia," Anæmia, and Chronic Diarrhoea.

With its use, these alarming symptoms rapidly disappear. The patient regains his normal outlook on life, takes a keener interest in his work and play, and feels better than he ever did. Start taking Sanatogen to-day; and see how wonderfully it will benefit you.

The Right Hon. Sir John Gorst writes: "I use Sanatogen every now and then under my doctor's advice, and always derive great benefit from it."

His Grace the Archbishop of Bombay writes: "I use Sanatogen every now and then under my doctor's advice, and always derive great benefit from it."

SANATOGEN,

The Tonic Food with Lasting Effects.

Sanatogen has been endorsed by over sixteen thousand physicians, including ten physicians to crowned heads.

Countless thousands of men and women, including many celebrities, have found it the restorer of health, strength and happiness, and have recommended it to their friends that they, too, may acquire these blessings in the fullest degree.

WRITE FOR FREE BOOK.

Buy a bottle of Sanatogen today. It is so good for all ailments. An I write for a Free Copy of "The World's Cup of Health" by Dr. Andrew Wilson, the well-known medical author. This interesting book tells you all about Sanatogen, and also contains a great deal of valuable advice on health topics. Write at once, mentioning this paper, to the manufacturers of Sanatogen, Messrs. A. W. King & Co., 6, Kiangling Road, Shanghai.

MODERN GIRLHOOD IN REVOLT.

LETTER FROM A SELF-MADE DAUGHTER TO HER FATHER.

From Miss Phyllis Barry, Epistol, Theobalds-road, Gray's Inn-road, W.C. to Richard Barry, Esq., J.P., The Towers, Maybridge.

Dear Father, I have been sitting ever so long here in my little bed-sitting room wondering how to answer your letter telling me to come home and stop "all this nonsense about earning a living."

As you wrote, I can just imagine you saying to yourself, "Silly child! Just as if she hadn't always had plenty of pretty frocks and pocket-money! What more could any girl want?"

Now that it comes to putting down what I felt it seems very hard to find words for all the little things which made me leave home. But the best snapshot expression I can think of offhand is "fair play." At any rate, that's the long and short of it, father—what I want, and that's what every girl worth her salt wants.

When I used to compare your treatment of me with Dick's two years younger though he was—I could have stamped with humiliation.

Just to give you some instances. I had only to go out for an hour and I was expected to tell you where I had been, with whom, why, and so on. Not that you had any particular reason for asking—nor had I any reason to conceal a single fact. I really have never done anything about which I could not tell you, nor do I mean to. But somehow, father, a girl feels she is being robbed of some precious privacy when she has to ask first which way she may go for her walk. If Dick stayed out till midnight you never questioned him. He was only out with his friend—what more natural? And Dick had a latchkey before he left. I had my first one last month when I paid down my first eight shillings rent, a week in advance.

NO PORTIA OR PANKHURST.

I want to be taken seriously. If I had a spot on my face or a cold in my eye, dear old Dad, I would be sent for at once. Oh, such a fuss! But when I was really ill—mentally, I mean—when I wanted to talk to you and ask you about the big things in life which were bothering me, or whenever you found me reading anything more serious than a cookery book, you just chuckled me under the chin and told me

"not to worry my duffy little head. Such things weren't meant for little girls to understand." Yet you talked patiently enough to Dick about land and Tariff Reform and what not, and I'm sure he wasn't specially quick at understanding.

Don't you see, father? I'm not a Portia or a Pankhurst. I'm sure I don't want to be, either. But just think how it hurt when I heard you call Dick into your study to consult him about a piece of business—or family affairs, even—and I was turned out with a "Now, Phyl, my girl, run away; we've something important to talk over!" Was that fair, father, to the girl who ever since mother died had looked after you both and protected you from a hundred petty annoyances with tradesmen and servants, and from all kinds of house-keeping worries, to say nothing of typing your letters?

It was the same about money. You were generous enough, father, but you never guessed how horrid it was to have to come coaxing and kissing for every new hat and and blouse! Dick had his half-yearly allowance and a cheque-book. The way I had to bludge him reminded me of the old nursery days when Uncle used to come up and say, "Three kisses for Uncle, and Phyl shall have a nice sweetie." No, father, I want a regular wage for my housekeeping.

MOTHERS ALWAYS FIRST.

Oh, I could go on for hours. There was church, even. I had to go every Sunday. You liked me to. You didn't know why quite, except that girls always did. It was the proper thing. It was different for Dick—he had his pipe and the Sunday paper.

Always different for Dick! What was there different, I wonder, that meant when Dick wanted Brownie, I couldn't hunt? When Dick wanted the trip I must walk! When Dick got in debt I must cut down the house bills? Why, the time you caught him behind your study door kissing Beatrice—you remember, the pretty housemaid from Belfast—you actually blamed me for having engaged her!

Father, dear, I don't want to hurt you. Dick's a dear sweet boy, really, and you know how I love you both. But it wasn't fair, father, and when I ask fair play for myself I'm asking it for every woman in England. We should have it, too, if only girls like myself—I mean girls living at home—would insist on being treated and treated like intelligent beings.

You don't suppose I wanted to leave home, do you, father? To leave you and Dick and my own dear little room, the jolly garden, and even the great cosy fires, and everybody and everything I've known and loved all my life. Being a typist in the City isn't half so romantic as it sounds. What it really means is—sweat and milk for lunch—a sausage for supper when I get in—bad butter—cheap shoes—shiny skirts, and so on—lame!

CHILDREN OF INDEPENDENCE.

But though thirty shillings a week won't buy many dresses, father, it buys self-respect anyway. I'm really happier with my books from the Holborn Free Library and my gallery seat in the theatre than all the rich daughters in Mayfair. And I've learned more about life and real men and women than I ever discovered in the books you gave me to read, or from listening to you and Dick talking, for all that you're married and I'm only a girl. You really ought to have told me more.

Now, father, there's a modern girl's charter of independence. Come up and have lunch with me on Saturday at the R.R.C. near Blackfriars Bridge, and we'll talk it all over again.

Give my love to Dick. Why hasn't he written? Good-night, father dear.

Your loving daughter,

PHYLLIS.

DEATH OF A CHINESE TEACHER.

A cable from the Hope Mission Hospital in Amoy was received on June 10 at the Anglo-Chinese School, Ipoh, giving the sad news that Mr. Lim Eng Chuan, the head-teacher of the Kamper Anglo-Chinese School, had died that morning of plague. He was on furlough for two months in China on account of his health, and his sudden death has come as a great shock to all who knew him. For eight years, says the "Times of Malaya," he was an assistant master in the Methodist Boys' School, Kuala Lumpur, and last year he was appointed to take charge of the school in Kamper. He had endeared himself to the pupils and had earned the respect of his parents during his stay in Kamper. His death is a great loss to the Methodist Mission and to the school. The greatest sympathy is felt for his wife and mother, who are now in Kamper.

FIGHTING IN THE BALKANS.

Another Little War.

SERBIANS AND BULGARIANS FIGHTING.

Belgrade, July 1. At three o'clock yesterday afternoon fighting took place between the Serbians and Bulgarians at the front for a distance of 30 miles.

A later message announced that the Bulgarians had attacked the Greeks on the whole front.

BULGARIA'S ADVANCE.

Greek telegrams confirm the report of the Bulgarian general advance. The Greek outposts are retreating according to orders. The Greek public accuses the Bulgarians of bad faith, and of playing on the Ministerial crisis with notes and counter notes, so as to gain time to prepare for aggression, though the experts regard the Bulgarian advance as of little strategic importance.

Meanwhile both the Government at Athens and the Government at Sofia are reciprocally protesting on account of the aggression.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

A later message says there has evidently been severe fighting on the Serbian and Bulgarian frontiers. Each vehemently accuses the other of attacking, and the Bulgarians declare that the attack was started to support the War Party in the Skupstina.

GREEK FLEET SAILS.

Athens, July 1. The King has gone to Salonika. The Greek Fleet hurriedly sailed for a destination which is at present unknown.

It is announced that the Greek fleet has gone to Thessalonika and Eleuthera, both places being mentioned in Greek despatches regarding the Bulgarian advance. Thessalonika is a place to which one of the Greek detachments retreated.

ROUMANIA'S ATTITUDE.

Bucharest, July 1. It is believed that the Balkan question will be settled by arbitration. Rumania's real wish is peace in the Balkans, but if this is impossible Rumania will certainly take action in view of preserving not only her own frontier but also the Balkan equilibrium.

MYSTERIOUS ROUMANIA.

Rumania's intention that she is prepared to take active measures if war breaks out among the Balkan States is variously interpreted. According to one view Rumania is following the advice of Russia and wishes to warn Bulgaria of the danger of her irresponsible behaviour towards Serbia, thereby improving the prospects of peace. Others ascribe to Rumania the desire to manifest her freedom from the influence of the Triple, especially Austria, who notoriously favours Bulgaria against Serbia. Finally, others consider that Rumania is only considering her own interests and is determined to secure more territory as a set-off to the eventual enlargement of Bulgaria. The last view is probably the most correct, but whatever the motive, the effect is likely to be pacifying unless it encourages Serbian recalcitrancy or the daily hostilities on the frontier become formal warfare.

GREEK REPRISALS.

Athens, July 1. It is announced that in consequence of the simultaneous Bulgarian attack along 140 miles of Greek front without a declaration of war the Greek Government has ordered the Bulgarian battalion at Salonika to surrender their arms.

BULGARIAN ORDERS.

Sofia, July 1. Strict orders have been given Bulgarian troops to cease operations unless attacked by Greeks or Serbians.

BY TELEGRAPH.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

A COMPROMISE POSSIBLE.

London, July 1. The Ambassadors will meet again on Wednesday. It is expected that the recent discussions of Governments and also of Ambassadors outside the conference will result in the conference now being more fruitful. It is likely that there will be a compromise even over the Epirus frontier.

LATER.

BULGARIANS SURRENDER AT SALONIKA.

A telegram from Athens states that the Bulgarians at Salonika surrendered after the Greeks opened fire. The order of the town was not disturbed.

MACHINE GUNS IN ACTION.

"The Times" states that at Salonika the Greeks placed two machine guns on the White Tower, and bombarded the Bulgarians, who surrendered after two hours' heavy firing. A Greek semi-official statement says that the Greek divisions were ordered to advance, and describes the action against the Bulgarians at Salonika. It further says that the Greek General Staff, considering the Bulgarians encamped at Salonika as enemies, and likely to disturb tranquillity as well as embarrass the General Staff's actions, ordered them at 4.30 yesterday afternoon to lay down their arms within an hour and leave the town escorted by Greeks. An hour having expired without compliance with the order given, the Greek troops surrounding the Bulgarian camp took action. All measures were taken to preserve the tranquillity of the town in the event of Bulgarian resistance. Strong military detachments were posted round the Bulgarian camp for days so preventing the escape of a single soldier. The police had prohibited vehicular pedestrian traffic and closed the shops with the view of preventing Bulgarian inhabitants from rising.

RUMoured BULGARIAN ATROCITIES.

A telegram from Salonika states that reports have been received there that the Bulgarians have penetrated the village of Bogdanza, and proceeded to massacre women and children. The Bulgarians captured between Kilindir and Karasouli a Greek detachment consisting of a sergeant and fourteen soldiers. All were slaughtered, the sergeant alone receiving ten bayonet wounds.

GREEKS AND BULGARIANS.

At Gumezja the Greek troops repelled a Bulgarian attack, inflicting heavy losses. 1,200 Greek refugees from Cherveli have arrived at Salonika, fleeing from massacre by Bulgarians.

GREECE'S VIOLENT NOTE.

Greece yesterday evening presented to Bulgaria a note couched in language of extraordinary violence denouncing Bulgaria's repeated acts of fraud and bad faith during the proceedings after the war, accusing troops of the worst kinds of violence and outrage upon Greeks.

100,000 BULGARIANS IN ACTION.

A telegram from Belgrade states that the Commander-in-Chief estimates that a hundred thousand Bulgarians participated in the fighting, which was of a serious character. The battle ceased at six o'clock in the morning.

BULGARIANS HOIST THE WHITE FLAG.

A Salonika message states that fighting with rifles, machine guns, and artillery lasted all night. Finally at seven o'clock in the morning the Bulgarians hoisted the white flag. Altogether 1206 laid down their arms, and were deported inland forthwith.

SERBIA ACCEPTS ARBITRATION.

MR. LYTTELTON'S ILLNESS.

London, July 1. The Right Hon. A. Lyttelton, M.P., is not yet out of danger, and there is slight ground for hope that he will recover. He is suffering from internal rupture possibly the result of playing cricket last week for the first time for years.

SLIGHTLY IMPROVED.

Mr. Lyttelton has slightly improved.

GERMAN DEFENCE BILL.

Berlin, July 1. The Reichstag has finally passed the Defence Bill, agreeing to the six new cavalry regiments demanded by the Government, three of which the Budget Committee previously struck out. A proposal by the Opposition, introducing in the Military Penal Code the principle of extenuating circumstances, and providing in such case for imprisonment instead of penal servitude, was also adopted.

A Socialist amendment demanding the taxation of the Princes was rejected by 195 votes to 169, and thereupon the Taxation Bill was passed.

The Reichstag was prorogued till the 20th November, after a speech in which Count Bethmann von Hollweg paid a tribute to the Reichstag for accomplishing the great work in one of the most memorable sessions in its history of safeguarding peace and the honour of the country.

MALINI'S CONJURING ENTERTAINMENT.

It was a delighted audience that left the Peak Hotel last night after having spent a most mystifying hour in the company of Malini, who is one of the most baffling conjurers of the day. The way in which Malini gets a conversational hold over his audience and the chatty, affable manner he assumes when going among those whom he succeeds in deceiving makes this entertainment amusing as well as mystifying. Such a pleasant hour was spent, that the time seemed all too short, and many would have been willing to have stayed longer, had it not been too much of a tax upon Malini. What made the performance unique in this style of amusement was Malini's absolute single-handedness. He used no paraphernalia of any kind, and his tricks were mostly carried out literally under the very noses of his audience. This seemed to be the most wonderful part of the show. Malini did quite a large number of tricks in the short space of an hour, but one of his best was that in which he borrowed two bank-notes from members of the audience. These were marked and after being rolled up, were placed in handkerchiefs, and held by spectators. Malini then cut open a lemon and took from it one of the marked notes, while the other was found in the centre of an egg. The handkerchiefs were afterwards found to be empty. Malini proved himself to be a master of card tricks, of which he performs a countless number. He chose some of his best last night. It was gratifying to see such a good attendance at the entertainment, considering the fact that the Peak Hotel is rather a long distance for town residents, and this should augur well for the success of Malini's performance at the City Hall to-morrow night.

ALLEGED MALICIOUS SLANDERS.

85,000 DAMAGES CLAIMED.

In the Supreme Court this morning, before the Chief Justice, an ex-parte action was commenced in which Lan King Ting, managing partner of the Hongkong Rattan and Fibre Furniture Company was the plaintiff, and Ip Ting Fan, managing partner of King and Co., Hongkong, and King and Co., were the defendants. The statement of claim set out that plaintiffs are carrying on business as exporters of rattan and fibre goods at 37, Praya East. The defendant when a partner in the plaintiff firm had power to sign and signed on behalf of the managing partner. On or about June 17, 1912, he published and maliciously wrote and published letters which were meant and were understood to mean that the plaintiffs had ceased to carry on their business, and that the defendants were the purchasers or assignees of the business. Publication was made to Messrs. Charles Poyry and Co., 4, Clive Street, Calcutta, among other persons doing business with or likely to do business with the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs by the said publication had been injured in their credit and reputation in their business in the sale of their rattan and fibre furniture and in the loss of profit on such furniture. Plaintiffs claimed (1) an injunction to restrain the defendants, their servants or agents from publishing libels or slanders concerning the plaintiffs' business, and from representing themselves as the purchasers or assignees of the plaintiffs' business; (2) an account of the profits gained by the defendants and the loss suffered by the plaintiffs by reason of the said publication; (3) damages; (4) further or other relief and costs.

Mr. P. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. O. S. R. R. of Messrs. Goldring, Barlow and Morrell, was for the plaintiff.

Mr. Jenkin said the claim was injurious and damages for a wrong which was a kind of slander of title.

His Lordship: Defendants are not represented.

Mr. Jenkin said they were not; they failed to file a defence and some other of the defendants had their appearance struck out because they complained that the solicitor who entered an appearance was not authorized and instructed. The defendant was at one time a partner in the plaintiff firm. He had a dispute and left, and shortly afterwards wrote to at least one of the plaintiff's customers informing them practically that plaintiffs had finished business and had transferred it to another company, which was the defendant's company.

The Lordship found for plaintiffs in the sum of $10 and costs and granted the injunction asked for.
